Like Father, Like Son . . .

Photo provided

For generations sons have been following in their father's footsteps. Whether it be the college they attend, the career path they choose or the branch of military service to join, today's sons are no different.

Nowhere are these choices more apparent than in small towns all across Kentucky and the United States.

For Father's Day we recognize and commend all the young men who follow their father's into military service. Bracken County has seen many choose this path in each of the branches of the military.

One such example is that of Billy and Austin Fite of Augusta. Billy, an E7-SFC (Sergeant First Class) enlisted in the National Guard on May 13, 2002. In his 13 years of service, he was deployed from 2009-2010 in Iraq and Kuwait. He and wife Cecilia have five children.

Austin is a E4-SPC (Specialist) with 4 years of service with no deployments. He is the son of Billy and Cecilia Fite and Jennifer and Robert Sebastian.

Historical Society holds 100th Anniversary Celebration for Bracken Co. Courthouse

The crowd was large, the breeze was flowing, and the music was wonderful! These words cannot begin to describe the celebration held Saturday morning on June 13, 2015, on the courthouse lawn in Brooksville.

The Bracken County Historical Society and officials from both courthouses sponsored the event to honor the grand building that has stood for 100 years in Brooksville.

There was standing room only under the trees, and the politicians and office holders gave up their seats to allow visitors an opportunity to enjoy the program.

Guests and office holders came from both coasts and states between, representing their ancestors - our county's founding fathers. In particular David Brooks, for whom Brooksville is named, had several descendants in attendance as well as relatives of the original 1915 court officials.

Not many ceremonies can boast of having a spokesperson almost as old as the building being honored, but Dr. Dexter Meyers, age 97, was the honored speaker of the morning. Following him, in age, was long-time resident and banker, Henry

Moorhead, who asked those in attendance to always remember the officials who dedicated their lives to making the court system better.

Hopefully, the youngest in attendance and descendants of 2015 officials will remember this day's festivities and honor the courthouse again in 2065, at its 150 years in existence!

Mains-Quinlin VFW Post 9535 holds Flag Retirement Ceremony

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

AVOIDING THE NEAR OCCASION OF SIN

The Catholic prayer, the Act of Contrition, ends with a firm resolution to "sin no more, and to avoid the near occasion of sin". This is good counsel for those of us with less than perfect willpower to resist doing wrong, and it harmonizes with the Lord's Prayer, which asks God to "Lead us not into temptation". Strictly speaking, God does not tempt us, but our daily circumstances certainly do, and we would do well to avoid those circumstances that tempt us to sin. If we know that a certain person will try our patience and tempt us to say or do something unkind, then perhaps we should avoid that person, or at least try to interact with him or her when our resolve is strong. We all know that certain things can be an occasion of sin, a situation that makes sinning much more likely, and part of leading a holy life is to avoid those circumstances, at least until our will has become more resolutely good. We should be aware also that our resolve can be weakened by a long hard day, so be especially cautious when you are tired. — Christopher Simon

When tempted, no one should say, 'God is tempting me.' For God cannot be tempted by evil, nor does he tempt anyone; but each person is tempted when they are dragged away by their own evil desire and enticed. James 1:13-14

BRACKEN COUNTY NEWS • 735-2198

Greetings! May we live as if Jesus died yesterday, arose today, and is coming tomorrow.

We had 45 in SS and Ron brought our lesson on "Don't Lose Heart". Galatians 6:1-10. May we not lose heart today as we go about following God's ways.

Jane Nelson's specials were: "Where No One Stands Alone" and "Heaven Came Down".

What a blessed and wonderful 3 days of VBS! Appreciation to the parents and grandparents that brought the children. Appreciation to all that helped. Each night food was collected for the Food Bank. All the children (39) were so well-behaved. Praying what they learned will be instilled in their lives for years to come.

Bro. Jackie's message: "Enoch A Man Who Walked With God". Genesis 5:18-24; Hebrews 11:5-6; Jude vs. 14-15. To walk with God one must make a decision to follow Him, have faith, and be a strong witness. There were 93 present for worship service.

Remember in prayer: Betty McElfresh (shown improvement); Rick Linville (last chemo treatment this Monday); Cheryl McDonald (back); Kevin Hamilton; Crawford Thornton (angiogram ok); Bev Wells; Dale Adkins (will have surgery on carotid artery); Lou Toller (carpal tunnel surgery 3 wks ago. A tumor was also found & was benign). Remember all those on prayer list and always each other.

We were glad to have Mary Welch and Bill Tuel back with us. Both continue to recuperate.

Prayers and sympathy to the families of Elliot Lindsey and James Burden.

We welcome Jimmy Lou Clos into God's family and our church family. He was baptized following church services. May God bless you as you serve Him.

There were 16 to Bible Study as Wayne Pendleton led us. Appreciation to Ron & Peggy Foley and Elizabeth Pendleton for the delicious refreshments.

Sun., June 28 - Church Picnic at Augusta Park 4 p.m. Eat at 5 p.m. Bring lawn chair & covered dish. Swimming from 6-8 p.m.

Matthew 5:16 every day.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

by Caroline Jefferson

This Saturday, June 20, the Women's L.I.F.E. Group is sponsoring a Father's Day Bake Sale at the main location of the First National Bank in Brooksville. All ladies are asked to bring in their delicious desserts by 9 AM for the opening of the sale and we invite everyone to stop by for their favorite sweet!

Our Annual Ice Cream Social is Sunday, July 26 from Noon until 6 PM and many parishioners are in possession of their Raffle Tickets which remain $1 per ticket. This year's prizes are $750, Quilt made by Brenda Haberle, $250, an afghan crafted by Betty Bay and another by Mary Jo Haas. Last week's winner of the $100 Raffle from our 100th Anniversary Celebration of St. James Church Building was Mary Hamilton and this week's winner was Emily Evans. Only five more winners will be awarded $100!

To Dads everywhere we send our sincerest and heartfelt prayers for a very Happy Father's Day! Rather living or deceased, these men have helped shape the lives of their children and their legacy of love lives on through the lives of these descendants. May God's blessings remain with Fathers everywhere!

BROOKSVILLE CHRISTIAN by John Elfers

The Lord's Day was especially good this past Sunday. We hosted our "Second Sunday Breakfast", followed by Sunday School and then our regular Sunday morning worship. During the sermon Ron asked us "What is the next big thing? Do we love created things or do we love the creator?" Then he reminded us the Bible says that we cannot serve both God and money because money & things will never fulfill us. Like the old saying goes, In the end we'll know Jesus is all we need, because Jesus will be all we have!

Appreciation to everyone who came to VBS Registration Extravaganza Saturday afternoon. We're really looking forward to this year's event titled "Bible - Blast To The Past", where the kids will discover God's everlasting love June 22-26 from 5:30-8:40 p.m. If you couldn't make it to the event you can still register by calling 606-735-3123.

If you have any questions, comments, or even a prayer request call Ron 606-782-2731 or our youth minister, Shane 606-375-8419 or email: brooksvillechristianchurch@windstream.net.

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI by Les Grooms, pastor Augusta Presbyterian

Last Monday night we had a pleasant surprise when Nina Clooney stopped by and brought us a lot of food to serve for the soup supper. The serving table was full but by the end of the evening almost all of the food had been consumed. Appreciation is extended to Nina!

We had another pleasant surprise on Sunday morning when the Augusta Christian Church brought three cases of canned goods for the Augusta Ministerial Food Bank. Appreciation to our fellow Christians for your help! The food bank is open on Monday night from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. here in the Fellowship Hall of the Presbyterian Church.

We had forty-nine present for worship. Lynn Darnell was the liturgist, Susie Hargett led the singing, and we had no Children's church because the young children were not present today.

Friday night we will be having our annual celebration of Father's Day. The women of the church will be honoring the men of the church with a meal. This is always something to look forward to.

The memorial garden is growing. Soon there will be two concrete seats and also a bird bath.

Tucker siblings win
Martin Guitar Music Contest

Congratulations to Aleisha and David Tucker on their recent music contest win! They traveled to Nashville this past weekend for the CMA festival, and to attend a mutual friend’s album release. At the end of their weekend, they happened upon what they thought was an open mic stage sponsored by Martin Guitars and signed up at the last minute. They performed the song they recently wrote titled “I Hate To Say Goodbye” (based on the loss of their little brother Samuel “Bear” Tucker approximately 6 years ago). David also had the opportunity to sing this song with Aleisha at his high school graduation a few weeks ago at AIS, and win the Bob Moloney music scholarship (Augusta Art Guild) with in May.

After performing their song with a borrowed guitar, they left the scene to travel home. David was just about to leave town when he got a call saying they had WON the contest. He returned to the stage to receive a brand new Martin acoustic guitar as the prize and take a picture with the owner of the store.

It was a great day for them to be in Nashville and an exciting start for David as he plans to pursue his dream of being a lead guitarist on the country music stage. David and Aleisha are the children of Pastor Doug and Angela Tucker (senior pastor at New Life Fellowship in Bracken Co.)

generation of open MRI technology

Harrison Memorial Hospital patients will now have access to more advanced imaging technology with its new Seimen’s Magnetom Espree, the first open-bore magnetic resonance imaging (MRI). This is the region’s first open-bore MRI system, which offers a larger opening for diagnostic testing.

MRIs provide digital imaging that helps physicians detect abnormalities within the body that a traditional x-ray cannot detect. The new open-bore MRI is equipped with a 1.5 Tesla magnet, providing five times more power than the previous magnet at HMH. This technology improves patient care in a variety of ways.

“We’re able to do new exams that we couldn’t do prior to this technology, including certain angiographic studies that can be done now without the need for intravenous contrast,” said Jerrod Davis, HMH Chief Operating Officer. “There are so many benefits. It has higher strength and provides faster scan times and better image quality that is vital for the most accurate diagnosis. And, best of all, the patient experience will be improved because of the larger opening and shorter scan times.”

Davis points out that, in the past, there have often been misconceptions about the term “open MRI.”

“Open MRI meant that the machine itself was shaped like a horseshoe rather than completely enclosing the patient. With that type of machine, a patient can only look outside of the machine when lying on his or her side; however, there are only a handful of procedures that allow patients to lie on their side. Many exams require patients to lie on their back, which in a traditional “open” MRI actually provides less room than our new wide-bore MRI. So, if a patient has anxiety with closed spaces, a traditional “open” MRI didn’t always provide a better experience,” said Davis.

The new Seimen’s Magnetom Espree technology provides a wider inner diameter (70cm) and more space between the patient’s face and the top of the opening (30 cm from head to roof). That’s roughly twice that of traditional open magnets. Another significant advantage is that this technology is considered “short bore,” meaning the length of the gantry (opening) is only 125 cm. This enables the patient’s head and feet to remain exposed outside the magnet for many exams. When the patient has to be inside, the magnet is so short that he or she is able to easily see out, reducing anxiety.

“When we shopped for our new technology, our team members at HMH tried out each of the technologies we considered, literally climbing inside as a patient to evaluate for comfort and anxiety,” said Pam Bowles, HMH Radiology Manager. “With this MRI, we’re able to do about 60% of our exams with the patient’s head outside the gantry or open-

The Farms of Cedar Hill
new to Community Day tours

Charlie Walter came to Bracken County in 2006. He purchased 250 acres of land on Haley Ridge Road, that no one had lived on for 74 years. The task of clearing land and constructing buildings began. The beautiful house was completed in 2008. There are 10 barns on the property, including a 200 foot horse barn. He has increased his acreage by purchasing land that bordered his original acres, and the old Bay farm on Route 10 has been purchased and clearing the land has begun. Hay is produced on the farms to feed the cattle.

Charlie and wife, Robin, chose Black Angus cattle to graze their land. The present herd numbers 50, but they hope to increase the herd to 150. The Farms of Cedar Hill is a farm that their children and grandchildren love to visit and is the most nontraditional farm in this area.

The Charlie and Robin Walter Farms on Haley Ridge Road is one of the tours being offered on Community Day, July 11. This will be a morning and afternoon bus tour departing from the Bracken County High School at 9:30 a.m. and returning at 11:30 a.m. and departing again at 1:30 p.m. and returning at 3:30 p.m.

Brochures containing registration forms are available at the Bracken County extension Office, First National Bank and local businesses. Registration deadline is Fri., July 3.

improvement in comfort for patients. But, possibly most significant of all is the increase in the quality of the images the technology provides. Clearer images are the foundation for accurate diagnoses and treatments.

The new open-bore MRI adds another component to the already stellar state-of-the-art imaging technology at HMH. Other diagnostic imaging equipment at the hospital includes a 64-slice computed tomography (CT) scanner, 4-D ultrasound equipment, nuclear medicine equipment, a digital mammography unit, a bone density scanner and digital radiography equipment.

“The new open-bore MRI is the latest investment by HMH in providing the best quality care for the patient,” says Sheila Currans, HMH Chief Executive Officer. “We’re investing in key medical technology that meets the needs of our patients and keeps them close to home.”

The HMH Radiology Department plays a critical role in the accurate imaging, reading of images and diagnoses of patients by offering a full-range of services for both adult and pediatric patients. The department is staffed by three board-certified, experienced radiologists, as well as radiology technologists. All radiology technologists are certified and licensed in their fields of practice.

The new open-bore MRI is located across from the HMH cardiac catheterization lab entrance on the HMH campus. To learn more about the radiology department, please call 859-235-3559 or visit the HMH website at www.harrisonmemhosp.com.

Quarter Auction to benefit Bracken EMS on Fri., June 26th

The Germantown Bridesider's Group will be sponsoring a Quarter Auction to benefit the Bracken County EMS on Friday, June 26th at 7 p.m. at the Watson Building. Doors will open at 6 p.m.

The EMS building is in need of updated bedding (twin beds), linens, supplies, etc. When the EMT's and Paramedics are on duty this is their home away from home. They need a nice place to sleep while on night shift, because most have day jobs to report to after having worked all night.

We all, in some way or another, have been impacted by their service. They come whenever they are needed, whether to your aid, or for a family member, for things as simple as helping someone up who has fallen, or comforting loved ones involved in a serious accident.

They offer not only their expertise, but also their support to both the patients and their family members. This is not just a job for them, they carry the triumphs and tragedies with them forever, AND now it is our turn to show them our appreciation, and give back.

All donations would be appreciated. You may drop them off at Primary Plus in Augusta or at Jim's Auto Outlet, or get in touch with one of the Germantown Bridesiders Homemakers.

Community Day's Town Center Government Tour in Brooksville will feature the Judicial Center, Bracken County Sheriff's Office, the Dispatch Center and old jail cells, as well as areas of the Historical Society.

The Judicial Center is located at 132 West Miami Street in Brooksville. The 38,400 square foot, two-story judicial center includes the Circuit Clerk offices of Kathy Free and her staff, a circuit courtroom, district courtroom, offices for judge's, additional family and drug courtrooms, consultation rooms, temporary holding cells, and storage areas.

The Sheriff's Office is located on the second floor of the Courthouse in the old Circuit Clerk Offices. Sheriff Howard Niemeier will provide information on the many programs his office has implemented over the last 5 years and of the impact of drugs in the county.

At the Dispatch Center, attendees will be shown the call center and CAD program that helps keep track of where officers and emergency services personnel are responding to emergencies.

Since the Dispatch Center is located in the old Brooksville Jail, access will also be given to the old jail cells and other areas of the Historical Society.

The tour is being offered during Community Day on Saturday, July 11, as a morning and afternoon bus tour. Tours will depart from Bracken County High School at 9:30 a.m. and return at 11:30 a.m. and departing again at 1:30 p.m. and returning at 3:30 p.m.

Historical Society reflects on 100th courthouse celebration

The official and long-standing historical society of Bracken County could not have celebrated the 100th Anniversary Courthouse Celebration without the aid of other organizations and individuals.

If a list is printed, undoubtedly, someone or group will be left out. However, certain ones need to be honored. Let's start with the courthouse lawn: the flags are a living tribute to those who served in the military; the band was exceptional and choice of songs fit the occasion; the sound system was superior – even those far in the back heard every note and speech; both courthouse officials and staff arranged the chairs and supplied many more as the crowd grew; the politicians and office holders stood so that others could sit; and water was delivered by some of our younger residents as the sun grew brighter.

The speakers were remarkable as to their knowledge of our county's past history and office holders. Using information from the speeches and the Bracken County News insert, Carol Norris was able to answer almost all of the trivia questions available. Perry Poe was disappointed that no one in attendance was 100 years or older, but several in the crowd and speakers were in their 90s.

The homemaker clubs provided punch and cookies inside the courthouse following the ceremony. We certainly hope their punch recipe is available for everyone – perfect for the occasion!

The Society had commissioned a brass image of the 1915-2015 Courthouse, and they sold quickly. There are some still available for sale at the office on Fridays and Saturday mornings, every day at the PVA office, and Amy's Blue Daisy in Augusta.

An array of books was available concerning our history and hilarious happenings our ancestors took part in.

Perhaps the most delightful items for sale were the desserts made by Bracken County residents – our most enjoyable delights – blackberry jam and Italian crème cakes!

Of course, special credit goes to Judge/Executive Earl Bush and his wife Millie for spearheading the celebration. Circuit Court Clerk Kathy Free led the efforts on behalf of the Justice Center, and with her participation and leadership the ceremonies complemented those former officials whose offices were in the courthouse for nearly a century.

The Society also wants to acknowledge those current officials and past officials who were not recognized in the ceremony on Saturday: Circuit Court Clerk Kathy Free, Sheriff Howard Niemeier, former County Attorney Michael Clark, and former Judge/Executive Gary Riggs. If any other officials were not identified during the ceremony or in this news release, please, accept our public apology. We, who make up the Bracken County Historical Society, recognize the efforts of all officials and citizens who made this day a tremendous success!

Howdy Folks! On Thursday and Friday of last week we attended a workshop sponsored by the Division of Waste Management so technically, we should have a little more intelligence this morning, but for some reason, recalling all that information is proving to be a challenge! Definitely, we took notes and brought material home to digest, so we will try to condense the more meaningful and locally useful aspects of the meeting. Mr. Gary Logsdon, Manager, Recycling and Local Assistance Branch updated the group on various subjects including the renewal of the Waste Tire Fund thru 2016. This fund is amassed through the $1 charge for each new tire purchased in Kentucky, and is the source of the ever popular Tire Amnesty Program which rotates around the state on a three-year cycle. Currently, the amnesty is located in Western Kentucky, but should be coming to this area next year. As soon as we get the scheduled date, we will pass it on to you.

Mr. George Partridge spoke on Sustainable Waste Management for Small Communities – A Global Perspective, and emphasized that we live in a very material world and it is of utmost importance that everyone properly dispose of the waste generated by this materialistic society. Speakers following this presentation dealt with the disposal of the waste stream. Definitely, we need landfills, recycling centers, and outlets for reusable items. Some terms that were tossed around defining the difficulties businesses encounter when trying to establish these outlets were amusing, accurate and thought provoking. Consider NIMBY (not in my back yard), NOTE (not over there either), NOPE (not on planet earth), CAVE (citizens against virtually everything) and the final acronym, BANANA (build absolutely nothing anywhere near anything)! If we insist on living in a materialistic world, then we must responsibly dispose of the waste that it produces.

Kentucky State Trooper Kendra Wilson spoke on the wastes produced by mobile meth labs which included both the physical discards of the ingredients used to create meth, but also the waste of human lives and the families involved. The so called 'pill mills' have been pretty much shut down, but not to let this opportunity pass by, the drug cartels have invaded with their heroin which is cheaper and now being laced with meth. In 2011 there were over 1,000 meth labs reported in Kentucky and by 2014 this number had decreased to 465, but has steadily been on the rise due to the heroin connection. Another presentation dealt with the addiction problems associated with the drugs and how difficult it is for facilities to be established to care for this growing epidemic. A young lady spoke of her journey as an addict and alluded to the fact that addiction is a physical problem that requires among other treatments, a spiritual solution!

More information next week on the workshop, but we need to remind folks that there is a roll-off for citizen use outside of Augusta at the end of Long Stretch near the railroad underpass. Also, a dumpster is located at the Berlin store. Once full, these will be relocated. Congratulations are extended to the Bracken County Historical Society, all participants and attendees of the Centennial Celebration of the Bracken County Courthouse! It was a beautiful day to reflect on this massive structure and listen to the memories of Mr. Dexter Meyers and Mr. Henry Morehead as they related their childhood experiences around this center of Bracken County lives! As we move forward into the next 100 years, we encourage everyone to RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen' you – Bin & Bug

Tour Augusta Regional Water Treatment Plant at Community Day, Saturday, July 11th

Enjoy a behind the scenes tour of the water treatment plant located in Augusta, Kentucky. See the physical process involved in turning non potable water into safe drinking water and the various steps that happen to provide water to everyone in Bracken County. The Augusta Regional Water Treatment Plant has been featured in TPO magazine.

The plant must supply water to the 10,000 residents of Bracken County, in addition to Augusta. To do that they have to fill a 300,000 gallon clearwell and a 300,000 gallon tank for Augusta, along with a 200,000 gallon clearwell and four tanks totaling just over a million gallons for the Bracken County Water District. The Augusta plant draws water from a huge aquifer that stretches all the way to Michigan (the water actually originates under Lake Michigan).

Treated water is pumped into a clearwell under the plant and then to the other clearwell and tanks going to the Bracken County District. The water meets all the state and federal standards.

Susan Butts is manager of the 1.2 mgd Augusta plant, along with her operator, John Olsen, (both shown above) and she also works with the mayor and other city officials. Her knowledge of the treatment processes and management skill has made her an asset to the plant and the community. Susan brings a powerful work ethic to her supervisor career in Augusta, KY.

This tour is offered on Community Day, July 11. This will be a morning and afternoon bus tour departing from the Bracken County High School at 9:30 AM and returning at 11:30 AM and departing again at 1:30 PM and returning at 3:30 PM.

Eye to Eye

with David Blandford, M.D.

AN INWARD TURN

Chronic eye-watering and irritation of the outer portion of the eyeball (cornea) may be due to inward-turning eyelashes. Abnormally positioned eyelashes can result from an eye infection, inflammation (swelling) of the eyelid, autoimmune conditions, and trauma.

This misdirection of the eyelashes, a condition known as "trichiasis," results in the errant eyelashes brushing against the eyeball. Left untreated, trichiasis may lead to corneal ulceration, which is a potentially serious concern that can lead to loss of eyesight in the affected eye. When there are multiple lashes growing toward the eye, the ophthalmologist may recommend surgery to have them removed permanently. If so, "ablation" utilizes radiofrequencies or lasers to remove the offending lashes.

At KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE, we stress preventive eye health care and periodic checkups by your ophthalmologist. We are committed to providing exceptional vision correction services and making our patients' comfort, safety, and satisfaction our top priorities. Please call 606.759.7883 or 800.658.7282 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 1937 Old Main St., Suite 1, Old Washington. We specialize in "EYE CARE FOR ALL AGES."

P.S. Some cases of trichiasis are caused by "epiblepharon," an extra horizontal fold of skin that causes inversion of the eyelid against the cornea.

Rice plays in the 6th Annual Kentucky Future Stars game

Tyler Rice was selected to play for the 6th annual Kentucky Future Stars this summer. He was selected from over 350 8th graders that tried out in the towns of Louisville, Owensboro and Bowling Green. The roster consisted of 50 8th graders from all over the state.

On June 9th - 11th, Tyler attended camp with the Future Stars at Morehead State and then boarded a charter bus for Knoxville TN, where they played the Future Stars from Tennessee. Tyler was one of the main tight ends for the Kentucky team and played a large portion of the game, including during Kentucky's only scoring drive. Kentucky had the lead at the half 7 to 6 but ended up losing by a score of 12 to 7. The game was played at Alcoa High School in Alcoa, Tennessee.

Kentucky Fish & Wildlife launches all-in-one web section for stream anglers

Fisheries crews with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources routinely see a variety of trophy smallmouth bass, muskellunge, catfish and walleye while doing their sampling studies in streams.

Now the department is unveiling those stream secrets through a new information section on the department's website.

"Stream fishing is a whole lot better than people think it is," said Fisheries Biologist David Baker, who headed the effort. "You can catch the fish of a lifetime in a stream."

Paddlers and anglers can go online to fw.ky.gov to access this section. Use the keywords "stream fisheries" to go directly to this page. The amount of information available makes it easier to plan a trip.

Currently profiles are limited to just a handful of locations, but more will be added throughout the coming years.

"We're providing a one-stop shop for anglers and paddlers to find out more information about a particular stream," Baker said. "There is a creek or river close to just about everyone in Kentucky."

The new section offers stream maps, provides locations of access sites, details mileages between put-in and take-out locations and offers information about stream water levels. For anglers, the section has photos and information about the size and frequency of fish biologists find when they sample stream sections, as well as fishing tips for each area.

"We also include photos of the access sites so visitors will have a visual reference of what they will see," Baker said.

The maps provided on the webpage are smart phone friendly, so users may load them on their phones and hit the stream.

The section currently profiles central Kentucky's famous Elkhorn Creek, three pools of Green River, the Barren River below Barren River Lake and Slate Creek. More sections will be added in the future.

Baker added that now streams have finally returned to normal from the wet spring, the fish are biting. "Smallmouth bass have spawned and are aggressive, rock bass and sunfish are on the beds and channel catfish are near rocky shoals preparing to spawn," he said. "We hope people use this page to help enjoy the wonderful stream fishing opportunities we have in Kentucky."

Sports in Kentucky

by Bob Watkins

Basketball States: Indiana is, Kentucky Kousins across the Ohio aren't anymore

Indiana is a basketball state. Kentucky isn't. Hard to swallow isn't it, living this side of the Ohio River?

The Hoosier high school all-star boys swept another pair from its Kentucky Kousins last weekend. Is 13 in a row and 92nd in 134 games dating to 1939. Last time Kentucky won a game in this series, the U.S. government was freezing Osama bin Laden's bank accounts.

Once upon a time Indiana-Kentucky matched was a mid-summer classic, clash of titans in America's heartland of hoops where kids dreamed to make the team. Basketball states is now singular.

Today, Indiana is still passionate about basketball, but all-star high school hoops in Kentucky has meandered down to a yawn, shrug, given way to pay-to-play summer camp, "I gotta be thinking about my NBA future," and video gaming in the shade.

Traveling by car across the Bluegrass State's 120 counties, I see a plentiful number of outdoor basketball goals but difference is, kids aren't using them, even ball goals with fresh nets.

To further the Kentucky-is-no-basketball-state argument, these sets of numbers.

✓ Eight-hundred-thirty-four. In all the Commonwealth this was the reported attendance for last Saturday's all-star game at Transylvania University. 834 tickets sold.

✓ Two. Jersey No. 1 for the first time in my memory, Mr. Basketball for both states were no shows. Vanderbilt-bound Camron Justice and Caleb Swanigan (Purdue).

In 59 years of Mr. Basketball, here's a first: A compliance office spokesman at Vanderbilt dictated Camron Justice could not play. He "is now considered a college athlete."

✓ And One. Kentucky's best big man and Louisville signee Raymond Spaulding didn't bother. Practice and games, a no show. Apparently he "now belongs to University of Louisville."

Changing times. Probably time for Indiana to file for divorce. Take it's dedicated all-stars and series to Ohio or Illinois. Kentucky high schools' best making the team, representing the state, is not important.

On our side of the Ohio, on another level, a flicker of irony.

With enthusiasm for future gone tepid, preserving the past becomes a new option — a basketball museum.

Ground-breaking and plans for a hoops museum located in Elizabethtown was announced in early June by Association of Basketball Coaches.

Geographically is sound, and downtown (with convenient parking) makes perfect a museum for fans to appreciate what has gone before — players and personalities and places, will project images of times when basketball was still a magical dream game in Kentucky.

With another historical fact in mind, I hope the museum in E'town enjoys a more sustained run of popularity than the once hot item one linked to University of Kentucky. Fan interest even around tradition-rich UK didn't last.

Today, given the abject decline of interest in the Kentucky-Indiana summer series, I hope officials have ever developing ideas to maintain interest for fan visits to E'town.

Maybe it will re-ignite a surge of pride on this side of the Ohio to lift Kentucky back to a place equal to Indiana again as a Basketball State.

RICK PITINO 'PLANS'

Something comical seeing a 62-year-old ball coach discuss a contract extension intended to assure he will be screaming at 19-year-olds another decade-plus, until age 73.

Rick Pitino discussed his new deal with University of Louisville last week and even the idea of a press conference brought to mind Woody Allen's expression: "Wanna make God laugh? Tell Him(Her) your plans for tomorrow."

With grinnin' Tom Jurich

at his left, who apparently believes he will live forever also, and God on Pitino's other side, Da Coach plans to stay on the job through the 2026.

This was gold for us if not for the Pitino at Minnesota: "... never thought at 62 I would be more passionate than 22 or 32, and I am. I just really, really love it."

Admirable and good motivation for us, Pitino's sustained joy and passion for his work after 30 years-plus, coaching at five universities and new plans to stay for 11 more.

God must be smiling ... for now.

VILLAINS IN SPORTS?

Headline at internet site Bleacher Buzz, June 12: Biggest villains in sports today.

First 10, column-writer Laura Depta says: Sepp Blatter (FIFA), Roger Goodell (NFL), Alex Rodriguez (Yankees), Floyd Mayweather (boxer), Skip Bayless, Bill Belichick (coach), Tom Brady (Patriots), John Calipari (Kentucky), Dwight Howard (NBA), and Dan Snyder (NFL owner)

"... Calipari is one of those ongoing sports villains," Depta writes. "This is likely, in part, because of the success he has enjoyed as the poster coach for one-and-done recruits. In April, seven players from his Final Four team declared for the NBA draft.

"Calipari has been known to make some arrogant statements now and again, as well, often rubbing people the wrong way."

OLD MADE NEW?

An age thing, I suppose. Being here long enough, we are certain to witness old ideas recycled, made new again. This week, sports writer Samuel Goldman at Hardwood Nation compared Kentucky basketball to the New York Yankees.

Gosh, I thought, Goldman must be 12-years-old. That premise was not even new when 66-year-old Mike Pratt was Mr. Bank shot at Kentucky.

Excerpt: "Every evil sports empire possesses the ability to reload talent immediately. What (John) Calipari is doing appears to be working. The Wildcats' ability to consistently build one-and-done dream teams rivals the Yankees front office. Now that's impressive can you imagine how talented the wildcats would be if they were allowed to spend money?"

You can read Goldman's 531-word old-made-new notion on the internet.

And so it goes.

Independent Auditor's Report

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the accompanying Statement of Receipts, Disbursements, and Changes in Fund Balances - Regulatory Basis of Bracken County, Kentucky, for the year ended June 30, 2014, and the related notes to the financial statement.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of this financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of a financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States and the Audit Guide for Fiscal Court Audits issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement. An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in more fully in Note 1, the financial statement is prepared by Bracken County, Kentucky on the basis of the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting and budget laws, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of Bracken County, Kentucky as of June 30, 2014, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the fund balances of Bracken County, Kentucky as of June 30, 2014, and its cash receipts and disbursements, for the year then ended, in accordance with the accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Department for Local Government described in Note 1.

Other Matters
Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the financial statement taken as a whole of Bracken County, Kentucky. The budgetary comparison schedules and capital asset schedule are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the financial statement. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statement. The budgetary comparison schedules have been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the financial statement and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statement or to the financial statement itself, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the budgetary comparison schedules are fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statement. The capital asset schedule has not been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statement and, accordingly, we do not express an opinion or provide any assurance on it.

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Steven L. Beshear, Governor
Lori H. Flanery, Secretary
Finance and Administration Cabinet
Honorable Earl Bush, Bracken County Judge/Executive
Members of the Bracken County Fiscal Court

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated February 26, 2015 on our consideration of Bracken County, Kentucky's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

Respectfully submitted,

Adam H. Edelen
